His attention was elsewhere, as if he was seeing another world entirely. One where the physical hardly mattered.

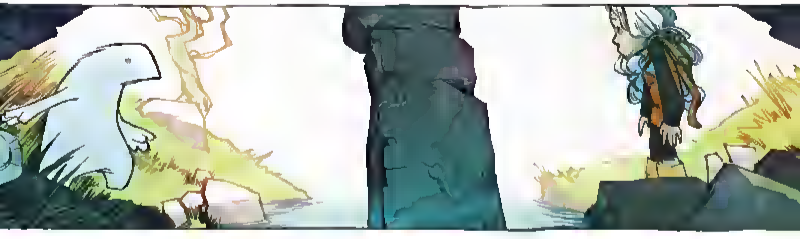
No one is ever alone, Nirvana...
...Not completely.

Sithfah
Propositions
Jason Brubaker

Please share this comic with all your firends because it really helps.
Thanks for all your support so far. I can't wait to show you where this story is going.
- JASON

"I'm all alone."

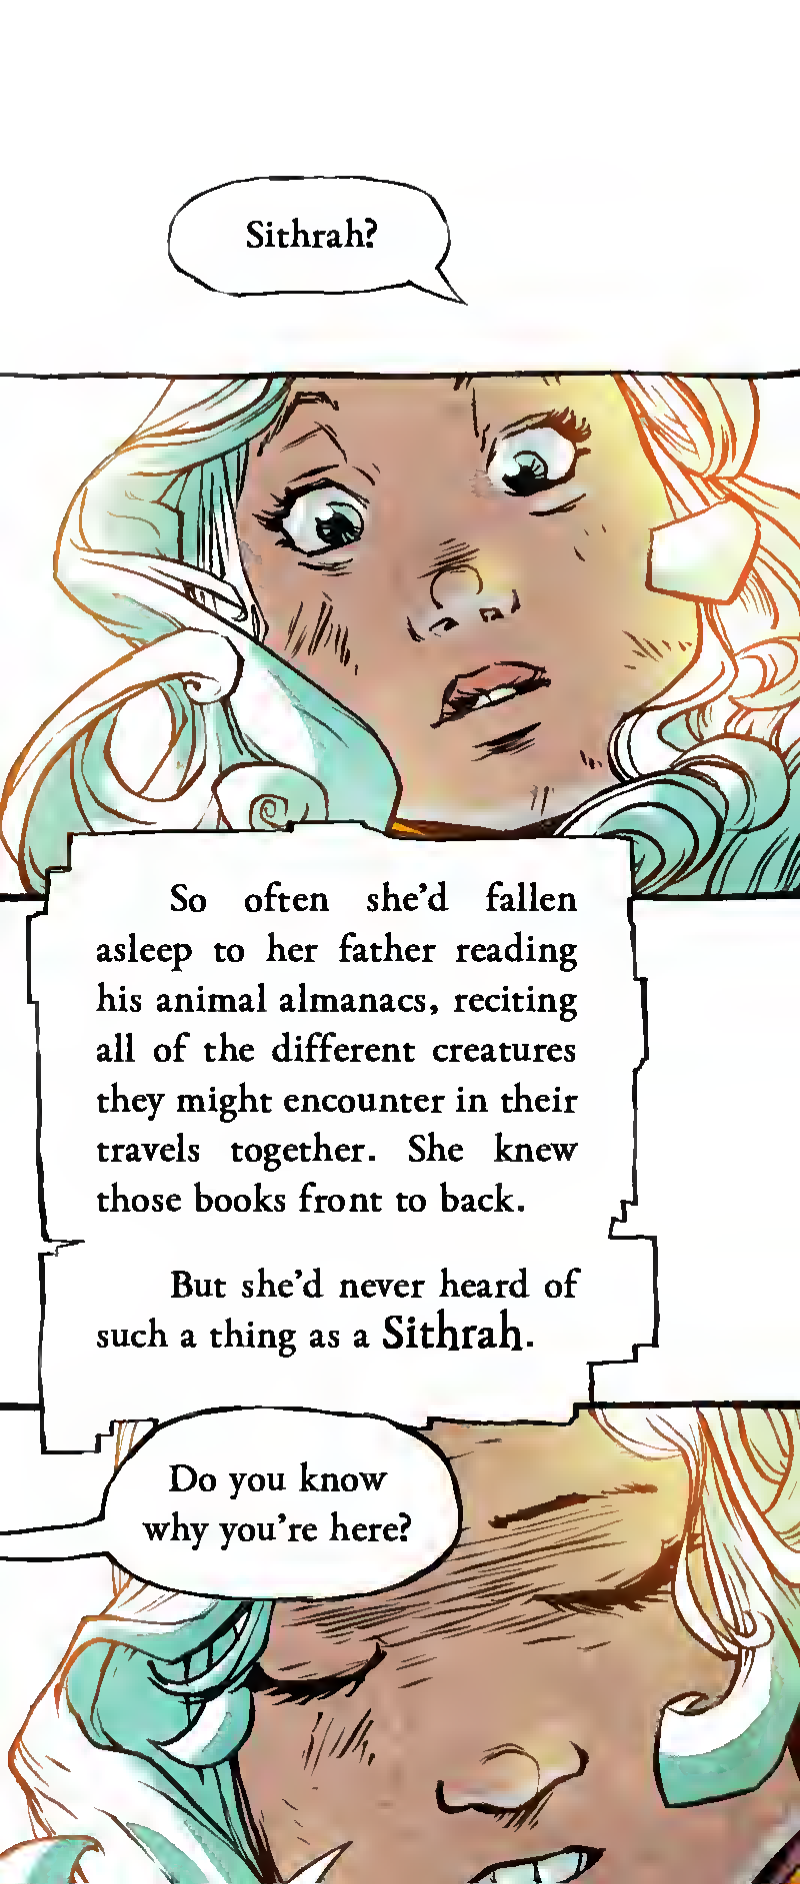
As Vonna broke down, the Sithrah only stared off into the distance, seemingly unmoved by her tears.



Sithrah

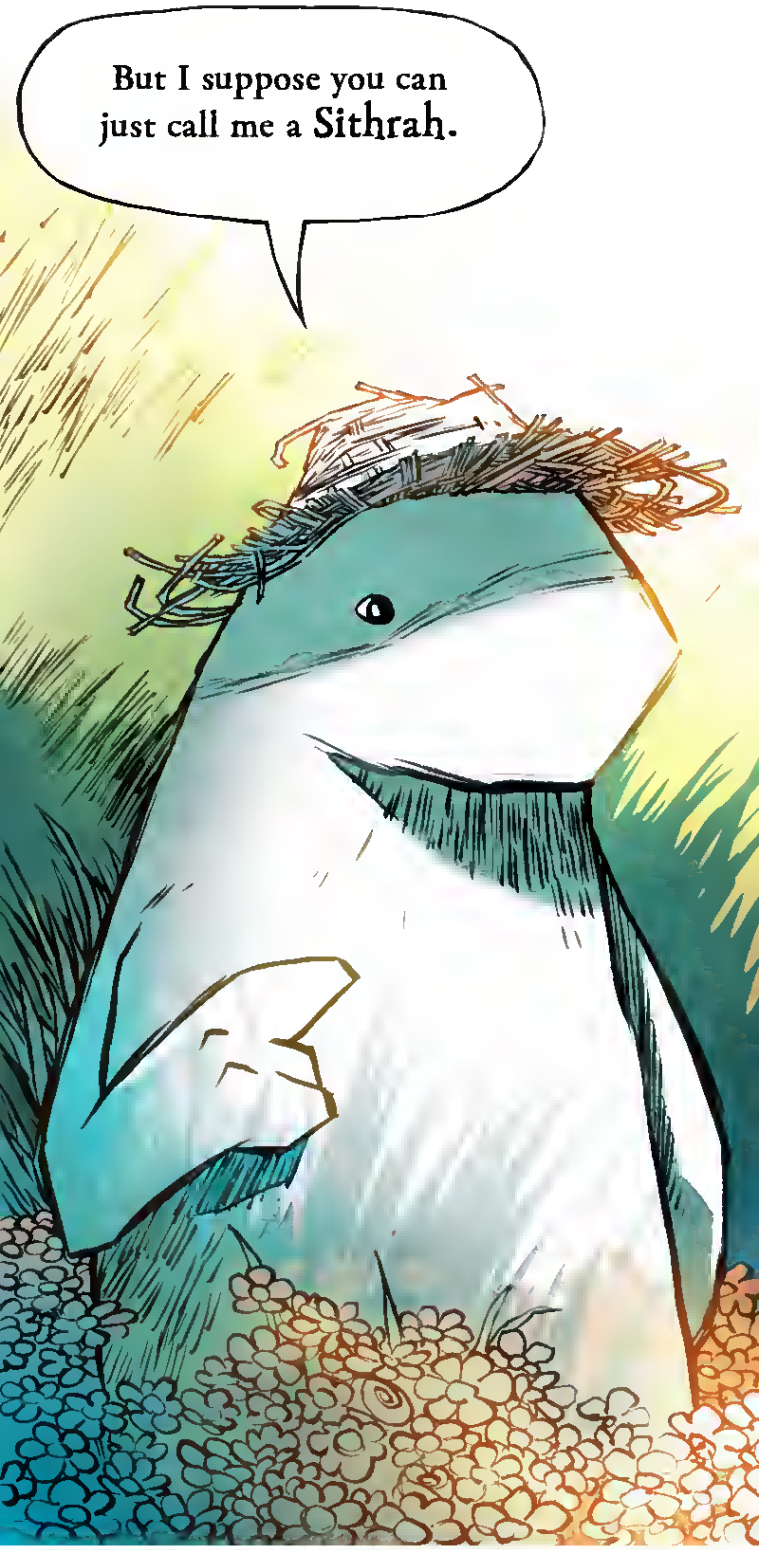
by

Jason Brubaker



Sithrah?
So often she'd fallen asleep to her father reading his animal almanacs, reciting all of the different creatures they might encounter in their travels together. She knew those books front to back.
But she'd never heard of such a thing as a Sithrah.
Do you know why you're here?

You move so fast--
I can't even see it!



But I suppose you can just call me a Sithrah.

COFFEE TABLE COMICS

@ Jason_Brubaker

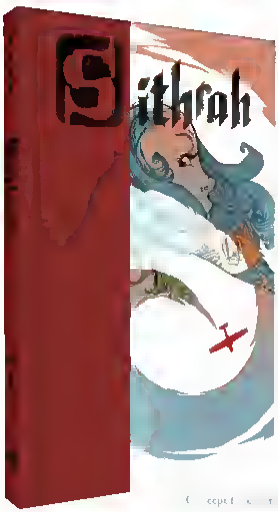
Hi guys!

I'm Jason Brubaker and I want to thank you for reading the first book of Sithrah here on Webtoons.com

Book 2 will be starting next Monday!

But better yet, you can buy a collectors hardcover copy of Sithrah right now in my online store at:

CoffeeTableComics.com



Like I said, Sithrah: book 2 will be starting next Monday right here on Webtoons!

Here is what the cover might look like. What do you think?

Well, our plane crashed and I fell out, and...
...I'm waiting here until my dad comes back to find me.
I'll be just fine, he taught me what to do, but...
...I'm worried he might need me to come find him...
I don't know what to do.

And you can talk too?

Forgive me.
I am not used to being unveiled.
Who... who are you?

My name is impossible in your words.
What?

LINE Webtoon